

High basketball coach Dennis Seddon, Southeastern Pennsylvania will miss an icon.

3. Penncrest proved that Ridley is no longer untouchable in the Central League. The Lions defeated the previously unbeaten Green Raiders, snapping their 26-game league winning streak.

Three things about this week

1. Central Bucks East will play at Downingtown West today at 3:15 p.m. in a clash of two of Southeastern Pennsylvania's best boys' soccer teams.

2. Cross-country fans will find out Thursday at Westtown whether the Coatesville boys' team can keep its Ches-Mont League title.

3. The Malvern Prep football team travels to the Haverford School Friday for a 3:45 p.m. game that could decide the Inter-Ac League championship.

Pompey's Super Seven

The top-seven fall sports teams in Southeastern Pennsylvania, regardless of sport:

1. North Penn football. The

Knights have scored 31 or more points in five of their seven games.

2. Merion Mercy girls' volleyball. The Golden Bears are the state's top program, regardless of classification.

3. Conestoga girls' soccer. The Pioneers have blanked six of their last seven opponents.

4. Malvern Prep football. Expect the Friars to finish the season by winning their 28th Inter-Ac League title.

5. Lower Merion boys' soccer. The Aces should earn the top seeding in the District 1 Class AAA tournament.

6. Friends' Central girls' tennis. The Phoenix went undefeated through 10 matches.

7. North Penn boys' cross-country. The Knights are the gold standard in Pennsylvania.

Under consideration: Central Bucks East boys' soccer, Garnet Valley football, Upper Merion girls' volleyball, Downingtown West boys' soccer, and Downingtown West girls' soccer.
